From the first a great deal of money has been expended in relief, and last years was no exception, for the report at the conventiona gave the amount for relief and turned over to posts as $10,796.31 besides a gift to army nurses of $199.

This year New York has the honor of having the national president, Mrs. Sarah E. Fulton.

There are 221 corps with a membership of 10,862, which will make up a voting delegation for the national convention of 39. Dr. Newman says Iowa is sending 500 persons here on three special trains. He himself has attended all the encampments since the one held in Portall of them as long as he lives.

Among the illuminated decorations which attracted much attention from veterans and other Grand Army week visitors last evening were the "Welcome G. A. R." signs in red, white and blue lights over the entrances to the pension office.

Every room in the government printing office has been prettily decorated. This is the largest printing establishment under one roof, and is being visited today by hundreds of G. A. R. visitors, all of whom express approval of the scheme of decorations within the building.
